Sol the Spider

Sol the spider was tired of eating flies. Just for once, Sol wanted to eat a cake, some chocolate or a biscuit filled with jam. But none of these things ever landed in his web, only flies.

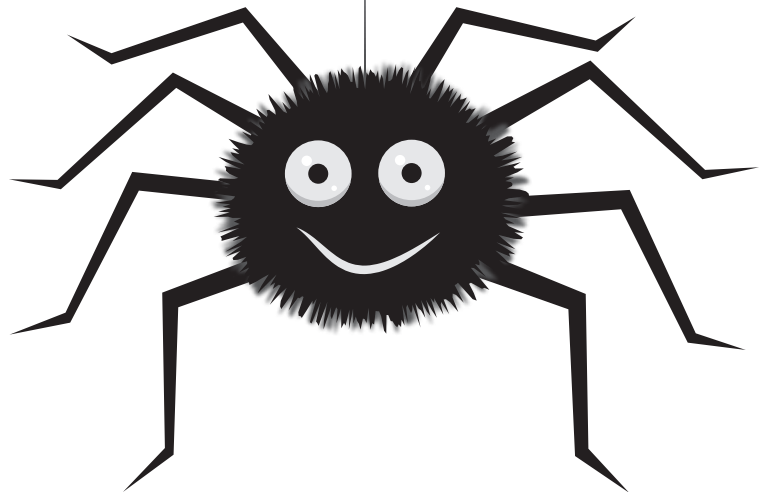

Then one day, from high up in the branches of his favourite tree, Sol saw a girl sitting below, taking a small bite from a juicy-looking muffin. Sol spun a tiny thread and slid down to the girl.

‘Hello,’ mumbled the girl. ‘Can I help you?’

‘Yes,’ said Sol, dangling in the air. ‘I’m looking for my friend. The last time I saw him he was swimming in a bowl of cake mix. Maybe he got baked inside your muffin. Yes ... I think I can see one of his legs sticking out of your mouth.’

The girl screamed, dropped the muffin and ran away.

‘I knew my plan would work,’ said Sol as he landed on the muffin.
