At the museum

The Louvre, Abu Dhabi is an art museum. Men started to build it on 26 May 2009. It opened on 8 November 2017. In February 2020, a restaurant opened in the museum. Many people visited the museum in the first year.

Marwan worked at the museum for two years. At that time, he didn't like the building. He enjoyed meeting the people who came to see the art. He learned all about the paintings that he looked after in the museum.

Marwan walked around, helping people to understand the art. There are 6,000 things to see at the museum. 600 of them are paintings. Marwan always showed people the six most famous paintings in the museum. When someone asked him a question, he always answered it. He was clever and good at his job.

A Trip to Thailand

"I am getting older so I need to have a full body check-up," said my mother. "Which hospital did your brother go to?"

"Bumrungrad International in Bangkok," my father replied. "We can go there this summer. Many Arabs visit it for check-ups because it costs less than in our country."

That July, we went to Thailand and my mother had lots of tests. It took three days to finish them all!

After that, we decided to see Bangkok and do some shopping. We walked around for hours. It is very interesting and has many huge shopping malls. Nothing costs a lot of money here. We stayed for a week and bought many things.

We then decided to spend a few days in the biggest island in Thailand, Phuket. There were many Chinese and Thai restaurants along the beach.

"This one looks good," my father said.

"No," my mother said. "I don't like Chinese food. Why don't we eat at this Thai restaurant instead?"

"The food was so nice," said my sister, after we left the restaurant.

Then, we went for a walk. We took a family photo on the beach in front of the most beautiful sunset. It was wonderful. I really enjoyed this trip. We had a lovely time.

The Crossing

Crossing the hot and dry desert was especially difficult in the past. People travelled on camels and took lots of water with them. It was also important to take dates and other food they needed along the way. Even today, before a long journey across the desert, it's best to give your name, address and where you are from to the police to stay safe.

People found food on the way but also took goats and sheep for food such as meat and milk. People dried food to make it last longer. Dried food was very useful for the people because fresh food did not last long.

In the hot summer, people were being hurt by wild animals during the day. It was even more dangerous to get on your camel and try to cross the desert alone then. Wild animals became hungrier in the desert heat because it was too hot to look for food during the day. During the winter, the journey was much safer because the people and animals needed less water for the journey. People stayed cooler than in the summer.
